

I awaken each morning in a state of bliss next to my soulmate in our beautiful home, surrounded by natural beauty. We are more in love, more attracted to each other, and more deeply connected than ever. We communicate clearly, easily, and from the heart. I have immense gratitude for the true freedom and abundance we experience in all areas of our life. Our life is more awesome than we could ever dream or imagine. Miracles happen everyday for us.

Our life purposes have become one. Our creativity and passion flows and people are transformed by who we are and what we do. Wealth miraculously appears in our life. We have more money than we could ever spend or give away. As we play, laugh, and celebrate life, we create more magnificence around us.

Our minds are clear and fully connected to all that is. We find it easy to be present and create our life with inspiration from source. We feel one with all of creation. Our inner consciousness takes us beyond where it is our mind knows to go.

Our bodies are stronger, more fit and more vibrant than ever before. We are radiant and glowing with good health.

A deep knowing guides us in life and all our experiences fill us with joy, love, health, wealth and infinite abundance of source.

So be it. And so it is.